IMPROVING CHILDREN'S SCHOOL RESULTS – TEACHING THEIR EARS TO HEAR!

An innovative method is assisting children to improve the school results, simply by teaching their ears to 'hear' and fully process the sounds they hear.

The Tomatis Method works by retraining the ear and re-patterning the nervous system with a sophisticated device called the electronic ear, designed by Dr Tomatis, a French Ear Nose and Throat physician.

The method has had enormous success treating children with learning disorders, such as ADD and ADHD, without the use of drugs, by using a non-invasive method that involves the child's mother.

Psychologist and President of the International Association of Registered and Certified Tomatis Consultants, Francoise Nicoloff, says the method is breaking new ground with children who don't necessarily have a learning disorder.

"While this program has been used for children with learning disorders, we've found the principles apply equally well with children who purely seek to improve their ability to retain information and excel in school," Francoise says.

"After working with the Tomatis Method for over 27 years I have a deep trust in the method and although I know what to expect, I continue to be amazed by the changes I see in children and the joy shared by both them and their parents."

And this system isn't only showing results with children who have learning disorders. Mothers with children of all ages, who just wanted to have their children learn to communicate better and improve their scholastic results, have commented on the difference in their children's school grades,

"As I already experienced very positively the effects of the Tomatis Method on my son Ankur, I realized that the method was so practical, and non-invasive, as well as providing incredible results with my son's schooling, that I thought it couldn't hurt to try to help his brother Nishant, who is already a gifted child to get ahead at school," Malini says.

"And because I'm involved with the program along with my son, I have a much better understanding of how it works, and can put aspects of it into practice at home,"

"Having seen how this has helped Ankur attention span and ability to listen and recall information, he is now in an opportunity class, which I could not have dreamt of. I can see how it must really benefit kids with learning difficulties."
